

TERMS OF USE

TERMS OF USE

Parentfully

Last Updated: 6 June 2026

These Terms of Use explain the rules for using Parentfully, including the Parentfully mobile app, website, and related services.

Parentfully is owned and operated by Pilandres Solutions Inc.

Business Address:

350 Boulevard de Maisonneuve Ouest
H3A 0B4
Montreal, Quebec, Canada

Contact Email: admin@parentfullyapp.com

Website: parentfullyapp.com

By creating an account or using Parentfully, you agree to these Terms. If you do not agree, please do not use Parentfully.

1. About Parentfully

Parentfully is a family organization and parenting support app designed to help parents bring more structure, clarity, and alignment into everyday family life.

Parentfully may help users manage routines, schedules, skill-based goals for each child, behaviour notes, discipline plans, family communication, family responsibilities, family or child-related financial records, feedback, suggestions, and feature requests.

Parentfully is a support and organization tool. It does not replace legal, medical, mental health, educational, financial, or professional advice.

2. Who Can Use Parentfully

You must be at least 18 years old to create a Parentfully account.

Parentfully is designed for parents, guardians, caregivers, and adults responsible for supporting a child.

Children may only use Parentfully with the permission and supervision of a parent or legal guardian, where child-facing features are available.

3. Your Account

You agree to provide accurate information when creating your account.

You are responsible for keeping your login details safe.

You are responsible for all activity that happens under your account.

You must not share your account with anyone who is not allowed to access your family or child-related information.

If you believe someone has accessed your account without permission, contact us immediately at admin@parentfullyapp.com.

4. Family Members, Co-Parents, and Caregivers

Parentfully may allow you to invite another parent, co-parent, guardian, caregiver, or family member to your family space.

You are responsible for making sure you have the right to invite that person and share child-related information with them.

You should not add anyone who is not legally or practically allowed to access the child's information.

Parentfully is not responsible for disagreements between parents, co-parents, guardians, or caregivers about access to information.

5. Your Content

You may add information to Parentfully, including routines, schedules, skill-based goals for each child, behaviour notes, parenting notes, communication, expenses, photos, feedback, feature requests, suggestions, or other family-related content.

You are responsible for the content you add.

You agree not to upload content that is false, harmful, threatening, abusive, illegal, harassing, or that violates another person's rights.

You also agree not to upload private information that you do not have permission to share.

By using Parentfully, you give us permission to store, process, and display your content only as needed to provide the service.

We do not own your family content.

6. Feedback, Suggestions, and Feature Requests

Parentfully may allow users to leave feedback, request features, or make suggestions inside the app.

By submitting feedback, ideas, or suggestions, you give Parentfully permission to review, use, improve, develop, or include those ideas in the app or business without payment or obligation to you.

You should not submit confidential information through the feedback feature unless you are comfortable sharing it with us.

7. Child Safety

Parentfully is designed to support families and child wellbeing.

You agree not to use Parentfully in any way that harms, exploits, threatens, abuses, or endangers a child.

If we believe Parentfully is being used in a way that may seriously harm a child or another person, we may suspend or terminate access and take any action required or allowed by law.

8. Parenting, Discipline, and Family Guidance

Parentfully may provide tools, prompts, templates, reminders, or educational content related to parenting, routines, discipline, child development, communication, or family life.

This content is for general support and organization only.

Parentfully does not guarantee a specific parenting outcome.

You are responsible for deciding what is appropriate for your child and family.

For serious concerns about your child's health, safety, behaviour, education, or mental wellbeing, please speak with a qualified professional.

9. Co-Parenting and Legal Matters

Parentfully may help parents organize communication, schedules, expenses, responsibilities, and records.

Parentfully does not provide legal advice.

Parentfully does not decide custody, parenting time, child support, access rights, or legal responsibilities.

You are responsible for following any court order, parenting agreement, custody arrangement, or legal obligation that applies to your family.

10. Expenses and Financial Records

Parentfully may allow users to record child-related expenses, contributions, payments, reimbursements, or financial responsibilities.

Parentfully is not a bank, payment provider, accountant, or financial advisor.

Any financial information entered into Parentfully is for organization and tracking only.

You are responsible for checking that all amounts, payments, and records are correct.

11. Permissions

Parentfully may ask for certain device permissions to make the app work properly. These may include contact access, camera access, alarm access, and notification access.

You can manage some permissions through your device settings.

Some features may not work properly if you turn off required permissions.

12. Acceptable Use

You agree not to:

- use Parentfully for illegal purposes;
- access another user's account without permission;
- misuse communication tools to harass, threaten, control, or intimidate another person;
- upload harmful code, spam, or viruses;
- copy, damage, reverse engineer, or interfere with the app;
- collect information from other users without permission;
- use Parentfully in a way that may harm a child, parent, caregiver, or family member.

13. Subscriptions, Payments, and Free Trials

Some Parentfully features may be free. Other features may require payment.

If Parentfully offers a free trial, the terms of the trial will be shown at sign-up.

Paid plans, renewal dates, cancellation rules, and refund policies may depend on where you purchased your subscription, including Google Play Store, Apple App Store, or the Parentfully website.

You are responsible for cancelling before renewal if you do not want to continue a paid plan.

Fees may change in the future. We will give notice where required.

14. App Store Terms

If you download Parentfully from Google Play Store, Apple App Store, or another app marketplace, you may also be subject to that store's terms and policies.

If there is a conflict between these Terms and the app store's rules, the app store's rules may apply to app store payments, downloads, refunds, and account management.

15. Intellectual Property

Parentfully, including its name, logo, designs, content, systems, templates, features, and materials, belongs to Parentfully or its owners.

You may not copy, sell, reproduce, modify, or distribute Parentfully materials without written permission.

You may use Parentfully only for your personal family use unless we give written permission for another use.

16. Service Availability

We work to keep Parentfully available and useful, but we do not guarantee that the app will always be available, error-free, secure, or uninterrupted.

We may update, change, suspend, or remove parts of Parentfully at any time.

17. Account Deletion

You may delete your account inside the Parentfully app.

When you delete your account, your account information and related data may be deleted or deactivated, subject to legal, security, backup, dispute resolution, or recordkeeping requirements.

Some deleted information may remain in backups for a limited time before being fully removed.

18. Account Suspension or Termination

We may suspend or terminate your account if you break these Terms, misuse the app, create safety risks, harm another person, or use Parentfully in a way that may harm a child.

You may stop using Parentfully at any time.

19. Limitation of Liability

To the fullest extent allowed by law, Parentfully is not responsible for indirect, accidental, special, or consequential losses.

Parentfully is not responsible for parenting decisions, co-parenting conflicts, family disputes, missed schedules, incorrect records, or outcomes based on your use of the app.

You use Parentfully at your own discretion.

20. Changes to These Terms

We may update these Terms from time to time.

If we make important changes, we may notify you through the app, email, or website.

Your continued use of Parentfully after changes means you accept the updated Terms.

1. What Parentfully Does

Parentfully helps parents and caregivers organize family life. This may include routines, schedules, skill-based goals for each child, behaviour notes, discipline plans, family communication, responsibilities, family or child-related financial records, feedback, suggestions, and feature requests.

Because Parentfully may involve family and child-related information, we take privacy seriously.

2. Information We Collect

We may collect the following types of information.

Account Information

This may include:

- name;
- email address;

- phone number, if provided;
- password or login details;
- profile photo, if provided;
- account settings.

Location Information

Parentfully may collect your city and country.

We do not collect your exact street address or live GPS location unless clearly stated and requested in the app.

Family and Child Information

This may include:

- child name;
- child age or date of birth;
- child routines;
- school or activity schedules;
- child goals and progress;
- behaviour notes;
- parenting observations;
- discipline plans;
- family responsibilities;
- caregiver or co-parent information.

Scheduling and Routine Information

This may include:

- daily routines;
- calendar entries;
- reminders;
- appointments;
- school events;
- extracurricular activities;
- drop-off and pick-up arrangements;
- parenting time schedules, where applicable.

Communication Information

If you use communication features, we may collect:

- messages between invited parents, co-parents, caregivers, or family members;

- notes;
- agreements;
- updates;
- shared decisions.

Financial Organization Information

If you use financial tracking features, we may collect:

- Family and/or child-related expenses;
- payment notes;
- contribution records;
- reimbursement requests;
- shared budgeting information.

Parentfully is not a bank or payment processor. If paid plans, subscriptions, or in-app purchases are offered, payment may be handled by Google Play Store, Apple App Store, or another payment provider clearly disclosed to users.

Feedback, Suggestions, and Feature Requests

Parentfully allows users to leave feedback, request features, and make suggestions inside the app.

We may collect and review this information to improve Parentfully, fix issues, develop new features, and understand user needs.

Device and Usage Information

We may collect:

- device type;
- operating system;
- app version;
- login dates;
- feature usage;
- crash reports;
- error logs;
- general analytics.

Payment Information

If you purchase a paid plan, payment may be processed by a third-party provider such as Google Play Store or Apple App Store.

We may receive basic payment status information, but we do not store full credit card details.

3. App Permissions We May Request

Parentfully may request certain permissions from your device.

Contacts Permission

Parentfully may request contact access to help you invite a co-parent, caregiver, guardian, or family member.

We only use contact access to support app features. We do not sell your contacts.

Camera Permission

Parentfully may request camera access so you can upload or capture images, such as profile photos, child-related records, or family documentation.

Alarm Permission

Parentfully may request alarm permission to help reminders, routines, and scheduled parenting tasks work properly.

Notification Permission

Parentfully may request notification permission to send reminders, updates, routine alerts, schedule alerts, account messages, and important app notifications.

You can manage permissions through your device settings. Some features may not work properly if you turn off certain permissions.

4. How We Use Your Information

We use your information to:

- create and manage your account;
- provide Parentfully features;
- organize family routines, schedules, goals, notes, and records;
- send reminders and notifications;
- allow invited users to collaborate within a family space;
- allow users to leave feedback, request features, and make suggestions;
- improve the app;
- provide customer support;
- manage subscriptions and payments;

- protect the safety and security of the app;
- comply with legal obligations.

5. Legal Basis and Consent

We collect and use personal information with your consent, where required, and for purposes that are reasonable for providing Parentfully.

By using Parentfully and entering information into the app, you consent to the collection and use of that information as described in this Privacy Policy.

Where required by law, you may withdraw consent. However, some features may no longer work if we cannot use the information needed to provide them.

6. Children's Privacy

Parentfully is designed for use by parents, guardians, and authorized caregivers.

Children should not create accounts without the consent and supervision of a parent or legal guardian.

Parents and guardians are responsible for deciding what child-related information they enter into Parentfully.

We do not knowingly collect personal information directly from children without parental consent.

If you believe a child has provided information without proper consent, please contact us at admin@parentfullyapp.com.

7. Sharing Information With Invited Users

Parentfully may allow you to share family information with invited users, such as a spouse, co-parent, guardian, caregiver, or family member.

When you invite someone to your family space, that person may be able to see information you choose to share.

You are responsible for inviting only people who are allowed to access the child or family information.

You can manage access through your account settings, where available.

8. When We Share Information

We do not sell your personal information.

We may share information only in limited situations.

Service Providers

We may use trusted service providers to help us operate Parentfully, such as hosting, cloud storage, analytics, payment processing, app distribution, app updates or app performance tools.

These providers may only use information as needed to provide services to Parentfully.

Legal Requirements

We may share information if required by law, court order, legal process, or government request.

Safety Protection

We may share information if we believe it is necessary to protect a child, user, another person, Parentfully, or the public from serious harm.

Business Changes

If Parentfully is involved in a merger, sale, financing, acquisition, or business transfer, user information may be transferred as part of that process, where allowed by law.

9. Third-Party Tools and Services

Parentfully uses third-party tools and services to operate, host, analyze, improve, distribute, and support the app.

These services may process limited personal information only as needed to provide their services to Parentfully.

Current third-party tools used by Parentfully include:

- Google Play Store — for Android app distribution, app downloads, app updates, and where applicable, payment or subscription processing.
- Apple App Store — for iOS app distribution, app downloads, app updates, and where applicable, payment or subscription processing.
- Google Analytics — to help us understand app or website usage, improve user experience, and monitor general performance.
- DigitalOcean — for hosting, cloud infrastructure, data storage, and app operation.

These third-party providers may process information according to their own privacy policies and security practices.

Parentfully does not sell your personal information.

If we add or change major third-party tools in the future, we may update this Privacy Policy.

10. Data Storage and Security

Parentfully uses reasonable safeguards to protect your personal information.

Data is encrypted.

We use encryption to help protect information in transit and at rest, where applicable.

However, no app, website, or online system can be guaranteed to be 100% secure.

You are also responsible for keeping your password and device secure.

11. Data Retention

We keep personal information only as long as needed for the purposes described in this Privacy Policy, unless a longer period is required by law.

You may delete your account inside the Parentfully app.

When you delete your account, your account information and related data may be deleted or deactivated, subject to legal, security, backup, dispute resolution, or recordkeeping requirements.

Some information may remain in backups for a limited time before being fully removed.

You may also contact us at admin@parentfullyapp.com for privacy-related requests.

12. Your Privacy Rights

Depending on where you live, you may have rights to:

- access your personal information;
- correct inaccurate information;
- withdraw consent;
- request deletion of certain information;
- ask questions about how your information is used;
- make a privacy complaint.

To make a request, contact us at admin@parentfullyapp.com.

We may need to verify your identity before responding.

13. Quebec and Canadian Privacy Notice

Parentfully is based in Montreal, Quebec, Canada.

Parentfully aims to handle personal information in line with applicable Canadian and Quebec privacy requirements.

Privacy Officer, Pilandres Solutions Inc. is the privacy contact person for Parentfully.

Privacy questions, requests, or complaints can be sent to admin@parentfullyapp.com.

14. International Storage and Transfers

Some service providers may store or process information outside Quebec or outside Canada.

When information is processed outside your province or country, it may be subject to the laws of that location.

We take reasonable steps to protect information when it is handled by service providers.

15. Cookies and Website Tracking

If you use the Parentfully website, we may use cookies or similar technologies to:

- remember your preferences;
- understand website use;
- improve user experience;
- support analytics or marketing.

You may be able to control cookies through your browser settings.

16. Analytics and App Performance

We may use analytics and crash-reporting tools to understand how users use Parentfully and to improve the app.

These tools may collect device and usage information, such as app version, device type, error reports, and general feature usage.

We aim to collect only what is needed to operate, secure, and improve the service.

17. Marketing Communications

If you sign up for emails, updates, or promotions, we may send you Parentfully news, parenting resources, or product updates.

You can unsubscribe from marketing emails at any time.

Important service messages, such as account, security, billing, or policy updates, may still be sent.

18. Changes to This Privacy Policy

We may update this Privacy Policy from time to time.

If we make important changes, we may notify you through the app, email, or website.

The updated policy will show the new “Last Updated” date.
